If you don't have a lot of storage space, the ribbon spooler by The Best Craft Organizer is a great tool to have. The handy tool works like a fishing pole and allows you to spool up to 4 yards of ribbon, turning it into a 1-inch circle of ribbon. Since most ribbon you buy at the store is spun around an empty circle, that's a lot of wasted storage space. The amount of space you would have need to store 20 spools or ribbon is reduced by 80 percent!

The Best Craft Organizers offer a compact dispenser to store and dispense your ribbon after its been spun. The dispensers fit perfectly into storage trays that the manufacturers also offer. (Actually, the stackable storage trays are the company's primary product for which they are best known for.)

While the trays are great visually and allow you to easily see all the ribbon you have, they are not necessary for using the ribbon spooler. Consider storing the spun ribbon in clear plastic bags. You'll be able to see what you having easily, and it takes up very little space. You can throw the bag into any drawer or into your bag when heading out for a crop.

One of the great things about the ribbon spooler is that it is inexpensive and can be used over and over again. So you can get a whole lot out of a single, low-cost purchase!
